Oxe of the most remarkable revivals which has been held in Kentucky is now in progress at the New Spring Methodist church in Lee county. It commenced more than a year ago, and has continued ever since, and the increst, instead of abating, has spread o the adjoining neighborhoods. At the head of Bear creek, some distance away, a new church has been organized s a result of the protracted meeting and a commodious house of worship will be erected. One man has donated the ground for the building, another has given the lumber, and a number of others have pledged themselves to see to the paying of the cost of construc-

A TELEGRAM was received at the session of the Louisville Annual Metho-dist Conference, at Owensboro, announcing the death of Rev. Thomas Bottomly, at Hopkinsville, the oldest member of the conference. He was in his ninety-fifth year, and had spent his ninety-fifth year, and had spent seventy years in the ministry, most of which was spent in Southern Ken-tucky. The meeting was turned into a memorial one, and Bishop Duncan and others delivered enlogies. The scene was so affecting that strong men wept as little children and the church was a scene of tears and heartfelt sor row. There were affecting scenes at other meetings throughout the city. A. M. LANG, one of the wealth and best known citizens of Lewis conn ty, has been mysteriously missing from his home for the past several days. He took his departure while his family was absent and left a note stating that he would never return. Mr. Lang was an extensive poultry dealer, and a prominent member of the G. A. R. and Old Fellows. His strange action can not be accounted for.

At McKinney Cora, the 3-year-old daughter of George Reynolds, was playing about a fire that had been kindied near the house by the washerwoman, when her clothing ignited, and she was soon caveloped in flames, burning her so badly that she died a few ours later in great agony.
